A NEW DESCRIPTION OF KENT

Diuided into the fyue Lathes therof, and subdiuided into Bayliewikes, and Hundredes, with the parishe Churches, conteyned within euery of the same Hundredes. All which, for better vnderstandinge, are distinguished with seuerall sortes of colours. Comprehendinge, alwell the Cities, the vsuall Market townes, and the Portes, with their members lying in Kent. As also sucn of the howses of the Nobilitie and Gentrye as the Plott could conueniently receaue. Wherin moreover the nature of the seuie weather, with the trendinge of the seacoste is more exactlye observed, and the tractes of Riuers, Riules, and creekes, with the trendinge of the seacoste is more naturally described then heretofore it hath ben done

By the trauayle of Phil. Symonson of Rochester gent. 1596
